Blagdon have yet again enhanced their reputation as The Pond Masters. The extension to their popular range of Minipond pumps, the Minipond 2000 has just posted record sales proving a hit with water gardening consumers. The Minipond 2000 is the third model to come from Blagdon and has been designed to deliver maximum performance for small ponds ensuring you get great value for money. Maintaining its commitment to producing a comprehensive range of high quality, easy to use pond equipment, this latest edition to the Minipond pumps from Blagdon is no exception. The new Minipond 2000 is both substantial and durable. It can be used to power either a fountain or waterfall or supply sufficient water to filter your pond. At the heart of this pump there is a high performance impeller and a hard wearing ceramic shaft. The pump has adjustable flow controls for fountain and a 'T' piece feed for a filter or waterfall. Included with the pump are four beautiful fountain displays and a fountain height extension pipe. Rivalling the alternatives, the Minipond 2000 needs little cleaning, and it is this low maintenance design that provides a consistent and uninterrupted flow of water to the fountain and waterfall. The high surface area of the pump housing means blockages from debris are prevented and it greatly reduces pump maintenance. The Minipond 2000 brings effortless maintenance and significant improvements in pump performance. Only periodic cleaning of the pre-filter cage and impellor is now required. The pump is encased in a foam-free cage whose design protects it from pond floor sludge and pond debris. It has a host of accessories to allow you to create the water feature of choice, whether it's a fountain, filter or waterfall. The pump comes complete with a 20cm riser pipe to support the fountain heads and a 'T' piece to feed water to the filter or waterfall, a separate 1" control valve is included to control this feed. Two different spray fountain displays are supplied along with a water bell and foaming jet and a 10m power cable for outdoor use is fitted as standard. The Minipond 2000 really is the ideal first pond pump for ponds up to 1600 litres and is backed up by a 2 year guarantee from Blagdon.
